Good morning!

I hope you are keeping well and enjoying this beautiful fall. Today we celebrate the inaugural edition of our weekly “mini” newsletter – “A Cup of Coffee with the Cupboard”. Each week, as our email arrives in your inbox, we invite you to join us for a virtual cup of coffee with the Cupboard (TLC). So, sit back, relax and enjoy your favorite morning beverage with us.

As we reflect on our Thanksgiving celebrations of this past weekend, it is a perfect opportunity to say thank you. Thank you to each one of you for your incredible support of the work that is happening here at the Cupboard. This includes everything from your volunteer hours and sharing our information to your financial support.

We would not be able to support individuals with access to medical equipment and daily living aids without you.

So, from all of us here at the Cupboard - thank you!

Hope to see you soon!

A Canadian curling love story from Canada's hottest new comedic playwright. With all the warmth and camaraderie of a great evening at the curling club, this zinger of a comedy is a hilarious and heartwarming story of second chances and finding love that you won't want to...skip.

After a "Rocky" split between Bill and Sandy, will things come together for their curling teams, as they desperately attempt to put together a winning foursome with the most important bonspiel of the year just around the corner? Can this ragtag team of curlers face their personal differences, battling on and off the ice with long held sibling rivalry and lingering feelings of love in order to bring home a win?
